

NEW HER OF THE HOUSE OF CRAVEN.

Bradley Martin the Grandfather of a Future British Duke.

THE FAMILY REJOICES.

New Yorker's Grandson Has Just Come Into the World at Coombe Abbey.

JOY FOR THE MARLBOROUGH.

The Young American Duchess Expects to Be a Happy Mother Next Month. Mr. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Belmont to Be in London.

By Frank Marshall White.
(Copyright, 1897, by W. R. Hearst.)
London, Aug. 2.—Lady Craven, the daughter of Bradley Martin, has given birth to a son and heir at Coombe Abbey, where she has been staying for some time. There is in consequence great family jubilation.

The Duke and Duchess of Marlborough will go to Blenheim as soon as the Duke returns from Mont Dore, where he has gone on account of a weak throat. They will be in town, however, in September, says the Daily Mail, for the announcement of the Duchess, when Mr. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Belmont will also be here.

The Duke of Marlborough, in accordance with a family custom, presented to the Queen, on the anniversary of the battle of Blenheim, which was to-day, with a standard painted with three fleur de lis. This arrangement was entered into by the great Duke of Marlborough, and was recognized as an acquittance for all rents and service due to the Crown for Blenheim palace by the head of the ducal house. For some years the custom fell into abeyance, but was revived.

ANOTHER VANDERBILT.

The Stork Again Visits the Family, a Daughter Being Born to the Family at Scarborough.

Another heiress is announced in the Vanderbilt family. Early yesterday morning a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernesto Fabbrì, at Scarborough-on-the-Hudson. The advent of this little one is regarded with considerable interest in society. She will inherit millions. She is a great-granddaughter of the late William H. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Fabbrì is a niece of Cornelius Vanderbilt and a cousin of the Duchess of Marlborough.

Dr. E. A. Tucker had just returned Sunday evening from attending Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and her two-day-old daughter, at Newport, when he found awaiting him a telegram from Mrs. Elliott Fitch Shepard, Mrs. Fabbrì's mother. He was immediately taken to Scarborough in Cornelius Vanderbilt's private car and arrived just in time to attend the young mother.

Both mother and baby are doing well and Dr. Tucker returned to this city yesterday. Like the Whitney baby, this little one is not expected quite so soon, but it is said to be a beautiful and vigorous child.

Ernesto Fabbrì married Miss Edith Shepard on October 20, of last year. The wedding, celebrated in Memorial Chapel at Scarborough, was one of the prettiest and most select society events of the season. Miss Shepard was one of the most beautiful and popular girls in her social set, and reputed to be an heiress to something more than $10,000,000.

TANDEM RIDE'S SAD END.

Teller of the Danbury Savings Bank Crushed to Death by a Woman-Driven Horse.

Danbury, Conn., Aug. 2.—While riding near this city this evening, C. Edward Lyon was killed in a collision between his bicycle and a carriage. Mr. Lyon, who was telling in the Savings Bank of Danbury, was riding on a tandem with his brother. They tried to pass a team which was being driven on the wrong side of the road. The horse took fright as they passed, reared and plunged forward, falling upon the wheelmen. Mr. Lyons was struck by the horse's hoofs and was almost instantly killed.

The horse which caused the fatality was driven by two women, who hurried on after the fatality occurred. They have not been found, but the police expect to arrest them before morning, as it is thought they are two farmers' wives, living in the neighborhood. The place where the accident occurred is two miles from the city, and it was an hour before physicians reached the place. Bicyclists who came along shortly after the collision went in pursuit of the team, but did not succeed in catching up with it.

KILLED BY A HORSE CAR.

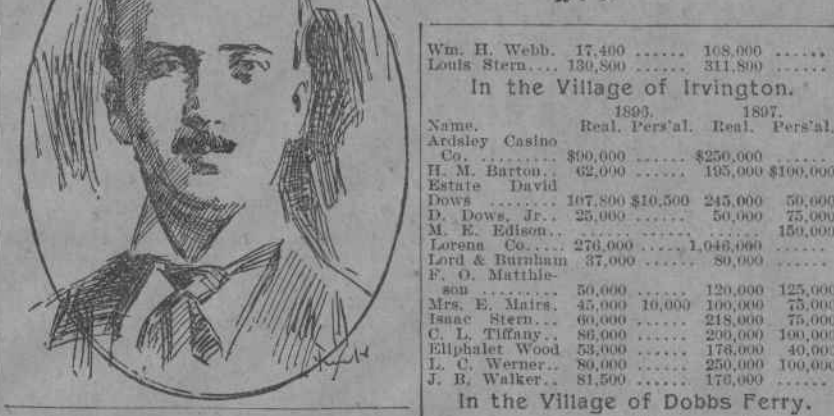

Thomas McGarry Literally Broken to Pieces at Thirty-fourth Street and Lexington Avenue.

Thomas McGarry, twenty-nine years old, a stableman, of No. 326 West Sixteenth street, was knocked under the horses of a cross-town car early yesterday morning, at Thirty-fourth street and Lexington avenue, and so badly injured that he died four hours after being removed to Bellevue Hospital.

McGarry's accident occurred while a score or more persons were standing on the corner or in the street, yet nobody saw him knocked down or could in any way explain the accident. He was only discovered after the car had passed over him and he was lying unconscious in the street. The thigh and fibula of both legs were broken, while the femur of the left leg was all crushed to pieces. His femoral artery was ruptured, and as most of the delicate portions of his anatomy, it was seen at once by the hospital authorities that the man could not live. He recovered consciousness long enough to give his name and address.

Pennsylvania Railroad Company announces a rate of $2.50 New York to Philadelphia and return, A. A. W. Moore, tickets sold Aug. 3 and 4 good until Aug. 9 incl.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernesto Fabbrì Are Happy Parents.

KEOGH'S TAX EDICT WAS A BOOMERANG

The Justice a Victim of the Assessors Whom He Scolded in Court.

HIS TAXES MULTIPLIED.

New Rochelle Neighbors Think He Will Now Join in Their Vigorous Protests.

By a singular example of the irony of fate, Justice Martin J. Keogh, of the Supreme Court, has fallen a shining mark to the assessors into whose hearts he threw the fear of the penitentiary last year.

It was because he caused a dozen assessors to be indicted for neglect of duty that the valuations of property in Westchester County have been swollen so amazingly on this year's rolls. In the chorus of lamentation that oppressed millionaires are raising from the Sound to the Hudson, the wall of Justice Keogh has not been heard yet, but his neighbors in New Rochelle firmly believe he will join with vigor in the "swearing off" process that will be general all over the county as soon as the assessors meet to hear complaints.

Or it may be that his honor will take his medicine like a man. He may have a sense of humor robust enough to allow him to appreciate the fact that the joke is "on him."

The roll shows that he has been assessed for $80,000 worth of real estate and $40,000 on personal property. Last year his personal assessments were made against the Justice, and his real estate assessment was only $22,700. As trustee of the David Jones estate Judge Keogh is assessed for $80,000 personal property, which is ten times more than it was last year.

The total assessment for 1896 was $4,740,000 real and $500,000 personal. This year the real property is assessed for about $13,000,000 and personal $3,300,000. The assessors are probably the most heavily assessed millionaires of the village. Adrian Iselin, Jr., is put down for real $155,000, and personal $50,000.

H. Henninger, who, it is said, is worth a million, has been assessed $120,000 on personal property, which is at least thirty times what it was last year. Some of the other large assessments are: Adrian Iselin, Sr., $200,000 real and personal, $100,000; William E. Iselin, $50,000; Columbus O. Iselin, $55,000; personal, $30,000; estate of Charles D. Iselin, $100,000; estate of $95,000; Martha R. Dickerman, $80,000; John H. Stada, $211,000; estate of Julia and John Stephenson, $100,000; estate of Lawrence H. Hensert, $100,000; estate of $50,000; New York & New Haven Railroad Company, $800,000.

The Harrison town assessors have also completed their roll and it shows several millions increase.

The Goulds Caught.

The children of the late Jay Gould will pay taxes on $2,621,500 in Tarrytown this year, instead of the $1,386,200 they contributed to the State in 1890. The fact was developed yesterday morning in the town of Greenburg, which is the richest in Westchester County, and one of the richest in the State. Greenburg embraces Dobbs Ferry, Irvington, Tarrytown, Hastings and Adirondack. In other words, it harbors such fat purses as appertain to the Goulds, the Barbers, the Villards, John Brisson Walker and Robert G. Ingersoll.

Members of these and other wealthy families shouldered each other all day yesterday in a little office on Main street, Tarrytown, the office of Philip A. Edmunds, clerk of the Board of Assessors. They were anxious to study the assessment roll for 1897, which had been thrown open for inspection for the first time, but there were so many of them that only a small proportion of them were able to gratify their curiosity. Those who did see the roll departed with lowering faces and clenched fists.

The personal assessment alone this year amounts to $1,500,000, as against $1,300,000 last year. The real estate assessment has been more than doubled. It amounts to $2,500,000 in round numbers.

From the numbers that were heard yesterday the assessors are convinced that the millionaires of the town of Greenburg will fight fiercely for a reduction in the assessments. The Board expects to be obliged to adjourn for several days after August 17 to listen to complaints. Some idea of the revolution that has taken place in the methods of the assessors may be gained from the following tables, showing how a few of the aristocratic victims have fared this year as compared with 1896.

In the Village of Tarrytown.

1896. 1897.

Name. Real. Pers. Real. Pers. Real. Pers. Real. Pers.

J. D. Archibald, $55,000, $125,000, $125,000, $125,000, $125,000, $125,000, $125,000, $125,000.

J. J. Barker, $20,000, $100,000, $20,000, $100,000, $20,000, $100,000, $20,000, $100,000.

A. G. Cobb, $10,000, $50,000, $10,000, $50,000, $10,000, $50,000, $10,000, $50,000.

B. S. Clark, $60,000, $300,000, $60,000, $300,000, $60,000, $300,000, $60,000, $300,000.

Lois Eastman, $118,800, $594,400, $118,800, $594,400, $118,800, $594,400, $118,800, $594,400.

Charles Graf, $50,000, $250,000, $50,000, $250,000, $50,000, $250,000, $50,000, $250,000.

J. T. Terry, Jr., $50,000, $250,000, $50,000, $250,000, $50,000, $250,000, $50,000, $250,000.

Mrs. L. L. Bull, $22,000, $110,000, $22,000, $110,000, $22,000, $110,000, $22,000, $110,000.

Wm. H. Webb, 17,400, 108,000, 17,400, 108,000, 17,400, 108,000, 17,400, 108,000.

Louis Stern, 130,500, 311,800, 130,500, 311,800, 130,500, 311,800, 130,500, 311,800.

In the Village of Irvington.

1896. 1897.

Name. Real. Pers. Real. Pers. Real. Pers. Real. Pers.

Archie Casino, $90,000, $250,000, $90,000, $250,000, $90,000, $250,000, $90,000, $250,000.

H. M. Barton, $2,000, $10,000, $2,000, $10,000, $2,000, $10,000, $2,000, $10,000.

Estate David, $107,800, $10,000, $107,800, $10,000, $107,800, $10,000, $107,800, $10,000.

Dows, $25,000, $50,000, $25,000, $50,000, $25,000, $50,000, $25,000, $50,000.

M. E. Edson, $270,000, $1,040,000, $270,000, $1,040,000, $270,000, $1,040,000, $270,000, $1,040,000.

Lorenson Co., $37,000, $90,000, $37,000, $90,000, $37,000, $90,000, $37,000, $90,000.

Lord & Burdham, $50,000, $120,000, $50,000, $120,000, $50,000, $120,000, $50,000, $120,000.

F. O. Matthei, $45,000, $218,000, $45,000, $218,000, $45,000, $218,000, $45,000, $218,000.

Isaac Stern, $80,000, $200,000, $80,000, $200,000, $80,000, $200,000, $80,000, $200,000.

C. L. Tiffany, $53,000, $76,000, $53,000, $76,000, $53,000, $76,000, $53,000, $76,000.

Edw. J. Villard, $80,000, $250,000, $80,000, $250,000, $80,000, $250,000, $80,000, $250,000.

L. C. Werner, $81,500, $175,000, $81,500, $175,000, $81,500, $175,000, $81,500, $175,000.

J. B. Walker, $17,400, $108,000, $17,400, $108,000, $17,400, $108,000, $17,400, $108,000.

In the Village of Dobbs Ferry.

1896. 1897.

Name. Real. Pers. Real. Pers. Real. Pers. Real. Pers.

J. J. McComb, $311,200, $770,000, $311,200, $770,000, $311,200, $770,000, $311,200, $770,000.

Elizabeth Paton, $9,000, $10,000, $9,000, $10,000, $9,000, $10,000, $9,000, $10,000.

G. F. Villard, $200,000, $450,000, $200,000, $450,000, $200,000, $450,000, $200,000, $450,000.

Theory Villard, $75,000, $240,000, $75,000, $240,000, $75,000, $240,000, $75,000, $240,000.

Thos. Samuel, $17,400, $108,000, $17,400, $108,000, $17,400, $108,000, $17,400, $108,000.

In the Village of Hastings.

1896. 1897.

Name. Real. Pers. Real. Pers. Real. Pers. Real. Pers.

Mary A. Brinkhoff, $43,150, $724,000, $43,150, $724,000, $43,150, $724,000, $43,150, $724,000.

W. F. Coffin, $7,500, $7,800, $7,500, $7,800, $7,500, $7,800, $7,500, $7,800.

E. T. Munn, $1,000, $2,000, $1,000, $2,000, $1,000, $2,000, $1,000, $2,000.

For as Well as the Rich.

Nor are the lamentations confined to the millionaires. The poor and lowly, the frugal serving man and the humble truckman, lift their voices in the wilderness and cry out against tax reform. Indeed, if there be one feature of the situation that is likely to silence the complaints of the rich man it is the fact that the poor man is proportionately a far heavier sufferer than himself. It is such bad form, don't you know, to have the same grievance as your late coachman.

Edw. J. Villard, who, until recently was a coachman for Mrs. Jane Buckley, of Rye, appears among the men of leisure on the Rye tax roll for $11,000 worth of personal property. Hughes, who is nearly seventy-five years old, had to give up work some time ago on account of rheumatism.

"I discovered that I own $11,000 in mortgages and bonds, and I think it's a shame I am assessed for $11,000 and personal property, which is ten times more than it was last year."

A driver of a coal cart at $1.50 a day—Michael Wray is his name—has been assessed for $5,300 real property and $12,450 personal. Like old Mr. Hughes his little fortune represents thirty years of toil. Day drives for C. H. Tibbitts, a coal dealer of Port Chester, and is advanced in years. The wealthy employers of these two servants were taxed very little more than the employees.

"Now, look here, both of you," she said; "most of this furniture belongs to me, and

"I don't want to stay here as long as the furniture does."

The policeman did not know what to do at this turn of affairs. At length he came to the conclusion that it was a case for a magistrate to adjust, and advised Mr. Georgia to have a summons issued for Mrs. Darlen. This he did, securing one from Magistrate Westworth, commanding her to appear in the Yorkville Police Court this morning at 11 o'clock. Then he went back to his unhappy home and, he alleges, found his mother-in-law walking about the corridors chanting a hymn of victory, much to the annoyance and alarm of the other dwellers of the Nevada.

He went to his weeping wife and children, embracing them, "let us take a train and go up the road and see if we cannot find a peaceful home in the suburbs," and with the mother-in-law still in possession, Mr. and Mrs. Georgia, with Gretchen and five men, working for the Illinois Stone Company, laid down their tools for the same reason and operations in the extensive quarries around Lemont are now at a standstill.

Quarrymen Quit Work.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Four hundred employees of the Western Stone Company walked out of the quarries at Lemont to-day because the management refused to grant an increase of 25 cents a day in wages. Seventy-five men, working for the Illinois Stone Company, laid down their tools for the same reason and operations in the extensive quarries around Lemont are now at a standstill.

Later in the afternoon Mrs. Darlen left the hotel, but she took no baggage. "Oh, I'll return all right," she told Proprietor Parley and Manager Wardell. "I own everything in those rooms, and I ain't going to put me out—not while I have my health."

But shortly after that hour arrived the perturbed son-in-law was back at the police station and stated in a husky voice that she was still there. Again Police Keegan journeyed to the apartments, but this time he found the grandmother of flaxen-haired Gretchen in anything but a receptive mood.

"Now, look here, both of you," she said; "most of this furniture belongs to me, and

"I don't want to stay here as long as the furniture does."

The policeman did not know what to do at this turn of affairs. At length he came to the conclusion that it was a case for a magistrate to adjust, and advised Mr. Georgia to have a summons issued for Mrs. Darlen. This he did, securing one from Magistrate Westworth, commanding her to appear in the Yorkville Police Court this morning at 11 o'clock. Then he went back to his unhappy home and, he alleges, found his mother-in-law walking about the corridors chanting a hymn of victory, much to the annoyance and alarm of the other dwellers of the Nevada.

He went to his weeping wife and children, embracing them, "let us take a train and go up the road and see if we cannot find a peaceful home in the suburbs," and with the mother-in-law still in possession, Mr. and Mrs. Georgia, with Gretchen and five men, working for the Illinois Stone Company, laid down their tools for the same reason and operations in the extensive quarries around Lemont are now at a standstill.

Quarrymen Quit Work.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Four hundred employees of the Western Stone Company walked out of the quarries at Lemont to-day because the management refused to grant an increase of 25 cents a day in wages. Seventy-five men, working for the Illinois Stone Company, laid down their tools for the same reason and operations in the extensive quarries around Lemont are now at a standstill.

Later in the afternoon Mrs. Darlen left the hotel, but she took no baggage. "Oh, I'll return all right," she told Proprietor Parley and Manager Wardell. "I own everything in those rooms, and I ain't going to put me out—not while I have my health."

But shortly after that hour arrived the perturbed son-in-law was back at the police station and stated in a husky voice that she was still there. Again Police Keegan journeyed to the apartments, but this time he found the grandmother of flaxen-haired Gretchen in anything but a receptive mood.

"Now, look here, both of you," she said; "most of this furniture belongs to me, and

"I don't want to stay here as long as the furniture does."

The policeman did not know what to do at this turn of affairs. At length he came to the conclusion that it was a case for a magistrate to adjust, and advised Mr. Georgia to have a summons issued for Mrs. Darlen. This he did, securing one from Magistrate Westworth, commanding her to appear in the Yorkville Police Court this morning at 11 o'clock. Then he went back to his unhappy home and, he alleges, found his mother-in-law walking about the corridors chanting a hymn of victory, much to the annoyance and alarm of the other dwellers of the Nevada.

He went to his weeping wife and children, embracing them, "let us take a train and go up the road and see if we cannot find a peaceful home in the suburbs," and with the mother-in-law still in possession, Mr. and Mrs. Georgia, with Gretchen and five men, working for the Illinois Stone Company, laid down their tools for the same reason and operations in the extensive quarries around Lemont are now at a standstill.

Quarrymen Quit Work.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Four hundred employees of the Western Stone Company walked out of the quarries at Lemont to-day because the management refused to grant an increase of 25 cents a day in wages. Seventy-five men, working for the Illinois Stone Company, laid down their tools for the same reason and operations in the extensive quarries around Lemont are now at a standstill.

Later in the afternoon Mrs. Darlen left the hotel, but she took no baggage. "Oh, I'll return all right," she told Proprietor Parley and Manager Wardell. "I own everything in those rooms, and I ain't going to put me out—not while I have my health."

But shortly after that hour arrived the perturbed son-in-law was back at the police station and stated in a husky voice that she was still there. Again Police Keegan journeyed to the apartments, but this time he found the grandmother of flaxen-haired Gretchen in anything but a receptive mood.

"Now, look here, both of you," she said; "most of this furniture belongs to me, and

"I don't want to stay here as long as the furniture does."

The policeman did not know what to do at this turn of affairs. At length he came to the conclusion that it was a case for a magistrate to adjust, and advised Mr. Georgia to have a summons issued for Mrs. Darlen. This he did, securing one from Magistrate Westworth, commanding her to appear in the Yorkville Police Court this morning at 11 o'clock. Then he went back to his unhappy home and, he alleges, found his mother-in-law walking about the corridors chanting a hymn of victory, much to the annoyance and alarm of the other dwellers of the Nevada.

He went to his weeping wife and children, embracing them, "let us take a train and go up the road and see if we cannot find a peaceful home in the suburbs," and with the mother-in-law still in possession, Mr. and Mrs. Georgia, with Gretchen and five men, working for the Illinois Stone Company, laid down their tools for the same reason and operations in the extensive quarries around Lemont are now at a standstill.

Quarrymen Quit Work.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Four hundred employees of the Western Stone Company walked out of the quarries at Lemont to-day because the management refused to grant an increase of 25 cents a day in wages. Seventy-five men, working for the Illinois Stone Company, laid down their tools for the same reason and operations in the extensive quarries around Lemont are now at a standstill.

Later in the afternoon Mrs. Darlen left the hotel, but she took no baggage. "Oh, I'll return all right," she told Proprietor Parley and Manager Wardell. "I own everything in those rooms, and I ain't going to put me out—not while I have my health."

But shortly after that hour arrived the perturbed son-in-law was back at the police station and stated in a husky voice that she was still there. Again Police Keegan journeyed to the apartments, but this time he found the grandmother of flaxen-haired Gretchen in anything but a receptive mood.

"Now, look here, both of you," she said; "most of this furniture belongs to me, and

"I don't want to stay here as long as the furniture does."

The policeman did not know what to do at this turn of affairs. At length he came to the conclusion that it was a case for a magistrate to adjust, and advised Mr. Georgia to have a summons issued for Mrs. Darlen. This he did, securing one from Magistrate Westworth, commanding her to appear in the Yorkville Police Court this morning at 11 o'clock. Then he went back to his unhappy home and, he alleges, found his mother-in-law walking about the corridors chanting a hymn of victory, much to the annoyance and alarm of the other dwellers of the Nevada.

MOTHER-IN-LAW HOLDS THE FORT.

Mrs. Darlen Defied Son-in-Law Georgia and a Blue-coat to Oust Her.

NEVADA TENANTS SHOCKED.

His Was the Time-Honored Complaint, Too Much Talk, but She Owns the Furniture.

SUCH IS HER ASSERTION.

It Was Enough to Make the Policeman Hesitate, and the Mother-in-Law Completely Routed the Enemy.

It all arose over the simple question as to what little Gretchen should wear. The grandmother, exercising a prerogative which has generally been accorded grandmothers since the War of the Roses, favored a light blue organdie, with ribbons of a corresponding azure. The father, exercising the prerogative of him who pays the bills, was emphatic in his assertions that Gretchen would look more picturesque in pale pink lawn. The mother, who should perhaps have decided the matter then and there, hesitated between the grandmother and the organdie and the father and the lawn. And from this small beginning grew the warfare which yesterday morning brought the tenants of the Nevada apartment house, at Sixty-eight street and the Boulevard, from their midsummer lethargy into a state bordering on panic.

Gretchen, who is only six years old, and flaxen-haired, as becomes her Teutonic origin, is the daughter of Adolph Georgia, whose young wife is the daughter of Mrs. Emily Darlen. Mrs. Darlen, stout and gray-haired, has two children besides Mrs. Georgia, but she professes living with her daughter in the Nevada. Until yesterday morning the son-in-law made only feeble objection to Mrs. Darlen's preference, although ever since the controversy regarding little Gretchen's gown, matters have been rather unpleasant in the family circle. But yesterday he said he couldn't stand it any longer, and ordered his mother-in-law out of the house.